

THE CEDAR DIALOGUES

The Debbane Lecture

THE CEDAR DIALOGUES THE INAUGURAL DEBBANE LECTURE

Dr. Bernard Haykel

Professor of Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University

The Future of the Middle East between Revisionist and Status Quo States and Ideologies

SEPTEMBER 29, 2026 | 7:30 PM

LAU NEW YORK DEBBANE CAMPUS, ROOM 501
211 EAST 46TH ST, NEW YORK, NY 10017

Dr. Bernard Haykel is a scholar of the Arabian Peninsula whose work focuses on the politics, economics, cultures, and history of the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) states and Yemen. He is Professor of Near Eastern Studies at Princeton University, where he teaches courses on energy, history, and politics. Haykel is completing a book titled The Realm: Muhammad bin Salman and the Transformation of Saudi Arabia, which will be published by Penguin Press. The book examines the modern political history of the Kingdom and the rise to power of its crown prince. Haykel is also a recognized authority on Islamist political movements and Islamic law. He earned his doctorate in Oriental Studies from the University of Oxford.